PROVO CITY. JULY 25, 1894.

PIONEER DAY—STATEHOOD.

The people of Provo yesterday celebrated Pioneer Day and statehood together. It is a grand thing to honor the memories of the old days of sacrifice, hardships and triumph.

There were many quaint old wagons, guns, equipage, and very quaint old men in line, bringing back strongly to the on-lookers the days when these men, their buckskin suits, old time rifles and frontier equipage were realities and not the loving simulations by the children of the heroes of the early settlement of Utah.

The survivors of the Black Hawk Indian war, the Grand Army men and other bodies representing the men of today. However, there was not a single old Johnny representative, albeit a score or more of the old battered men of the gray and of the south looked on, pleased and amused spectators of an anniversary in which they had none but the sentiments of neighbors and friends, nothing of the enthusiasm which stirs the blood of participants, nothing save the melancholy interest of a far-off glance at scenes which interests others and not ourselves.

Utah has done wisely in making of Pioneer Day one of her most sacred festivals. The heroes of her early struggles deserve all the honor the state can pay them and after which we hope to see her able to take the burdens of the care of her aged, indigent and maimed old heroes upon her shoulders, and in this way shield them from the cold blasts of winter and shelter them lovingly from the blistering suns of the fierce summer.

The other section of the celebration—statehood—catches every heart. In this part of it there are no heroes. Here even the old Johnnies are at home. It represents the upbuilding of another new state of the nation. Another star glitters amid the galaxy. Here is food for rejoicing for all. Here all meet upon the level. No American citizen, but feels that he has a perfect right to all the distinction which adheres to the title of an American.

HERETOFOR men employed by the Southern Pacific must keep out of labor unions. This is a severe remedy against strikes, but it will prove effective. It would have had more force had the move come from some other road. The S. P. has risen to a bad eminence so far as its local service is concerned. If on trial before the whole nation it would now be a toes up to as which, the men or the road, would win. Its employees did wrong by going into the sympathy strike, but there was a long list of wrong charged up against that great monopoly by the men.

THE Standard wonders at the confidence of THE DISPATCH in the coming result this fall. Why, dear Standard, that is almost as plain as the nose on your face, or the knobs on ours. Its pain. You see that statehood matter will not be suffered to pass out of men's memories in a resultless sort of way, as insignificant matters do. There is meat in the proposition that Utah owes that great boon to the party of the people and not to the party of the monopolists. Utah owes her first fealty to the democracy and she will pay the draft.

REALLY the Tribune, in pure self-defense as well as self-respect, will be compelled to reconstruct its modes soon, or, as the campaign proceeds the G. O. P. will be compelled to unload it. Certainly a party will have no shadow of a chance for success if that paper continues its present reckless course. It is guilty of methods which would hoist to even the Enquirer, and that's saying a good deal.

We are in receipt of a communication on the subject of the strike which is signed only with an anonymous signature. We would be glad to publish the letter, but cannot do so unless a genuine signature is sent, not for publication, but as a guarantee. This is an invariable rule and one we will not depart from under any circumstances.

THE Herald argues ably to the effect that Utah will send one representative and two senators of the democratic faith to the next congress. The Herald has the thing down fine and in this respect is a true prophet.

THE Tribune on Monday morning did a bit of ante mortem obituary writing which is unique to say the least of it. That ought to entitle the undertaker to a little ante mortuary job.

THE great festival yesterday given by the Mystic Shrine in Denver, was gorgeous such as only El. Jebel can give. The heart of this one lonely shriner was with his brethren on the occasion.

DEBS is still at it. Debs is an enthusiastic cuss. Debs don't know when he is licked. Debs ought to be taught.

THE coming registration is bothering the Tribune already very profoundly. As the days go on the bother will increase.

Reader, there are many blood purifying medicines.

There is but one Hood's Sarsaparilla. Do not allow high-sounding advertisements or other devices to turn you from your purpose to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because in this purpose you are right and will not be disappointed in the result.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is an honest medicine, honestly advertised, effects honest cures, and gives every patron a fair equivalent for his money. What more can you reasonably ask?

A fair trial guarantees a complete cure.

AN Interesting Creature.

The sling and its habits and peculiarities are well worth a little attention from those who are fond of the unusual and curious things of earth. A family, upon moving into a house, remarked that the cellar was lined all over with thin, shining tracks where some slimy maker of the tracks could not be found, but were at last discovered underneath a box in one corner where the mice had carried some leaves and pieces of vegetables. They were put into a glass fruit jar and fed with leaves and scraps of vegetables. They seemed to eat but little, but were continually crawling about the jar. At the slightest sound they contracted into a length of not more than 2 1/2 inches, remaining perfectly quiet for a few minutes, when they cautiously put out their feelers and began to move. The head seemed to go on, and the tail was still until the body measured almost 6 inches, when gradually the entire length moved slowly along. As it crawled up the side of the jar the under side of the body could be clearly seen through the transparent material. Its propulsive power seemed to be a sort of endless chain arrangement that ran lengthwise from head to tail. This sling is as thick as one's little finger. The longest specimen measured a trifle over 6 inches in length.—New York Ledger.

Bauscheidtism.

"Reception, Assimilation, Excretion." In these three words the summary and very nature of the genuine Bauscheidtism is expressed.

The following is one of many testimonials that have been voluntarily given:

To whom it may concern:

This is to certify that in the winter of 1888-89, when I was in Syria as a traveling missionary and having contracted by getting wet and cold, a very bad toothache and earache, Mr. Fred Kalle, then in Jaffa, Palestine, and now in Provo city, Utah, relieved me of my sufferings within a few hours by an application of his resuscitator and oleum Bauscheidt, so that I had no toothache for many years.

I will further say, that after working in the mountains of Idaho and Utah, exploring, prospecting, developing mines and being exposed to heavy storms, sometimes being out all night, I was laid up with rheumatism and heavy backache. I went to Provo to Mr. Kalle for relief, and after one single application (May 1892) I was cured completely of my pains and enjoy full health and vigor again. I give this testimony to Mr. Kalle out of thankfulness, recommending him and his science to all the sufferers within his reach.

SUMMONS IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF Utah, County of.

Dennis Spill, plaintiff, vs. John Beck, defendant.

David Eismann, Benjamin Eismann, and Elias Michael, partners under the name of Rice, Stitt & Co., John J. Cushing, Charles E. Powell, J. A. Cunningham and Henry E. Taylor, defendants.

The people of the Territory of Utah send greeting to John Beck, Henry Rice, Jonathan Rice, William Stitt, David Eismann, Benjamin Eismann and Elias Michael (partners under the name of Rice, Stitt & Co.), John J. Cushing, Charles E. Powell, J. A. Cunningham and Henry E. Taylor, defendants.

That the said defendants do appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff, in the district court of the first judicial district of the territory of Utah, to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons, if served within the county; or if served out of the county, within ten days after the return of the writ, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of this complaint.

The said action is brought to obtain the judgment and decree of this court for the foreclosure of the mortgage in said complaint, and executed by the said defendant John Beck on the 12th day of December, 1893, and recorded in the office of the County Recorder of the county of Utah, in the Territory of Utah, in book No. 1 of Mortgages, pages 15 and 16, to secure the payment of a promissory note of the defendant, John Beck, for $2,000, dated at Provo, Utah, November 26th, 1893, payable ninety days after date to the plaintiff, or order, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum from date, and interest on said note at the rate of ten per cent. per annum from the 24th day of February, 1894, less payments made thereon in the sum of two thousand dollars; that the premises conveyed by said mortgage may be sold, and the proceeds applied to the payment of said promissory note, attorney's fees for an amount equal to five per cent. of the amount of the judgment herein obtained on said note, and payment of costs of this action, and that the said defendants and all persons claiming under them may be barred and foreclosed of all right, title, claim, interest, equity of redemption, and interest in and to the premises described above, and for other and further relief as will more fully appear in and to the complaint filed in this action, and for a particular description of the land described in said mortgage, reference being made to the copy of said mortgage filed with the said complaint as a part thereof.

And you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint within the time herein specified, the plaintiff will apply to this court for judgment on the said complaint, and the said court will grant judgment in favor of the plaintiff, and the said court will also grant judgment for the plaintiff for the amount of the said promissory note, with interest thereon, and for costs of this action, and for other and further relief as will more fully appear in and to the complaint filed in this action, and for a particular description of the land described in said mortgage, reference being made to the copy of said mortgage filed with the said complaint as a part thereof.

Witness the hand of the district clerk of the first judicial district of the territory of Utah, this 30th day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, eight hundred and ninety-four.
